

MONOTYPE

Machine Composition Faces

Available Point Sizes, Set Sizes, Length of Capital and Lowercase Alphabets

In this Section, prepared for insertion in the Monotype Specimen Book, the following information is shown: A complete list of Monotype roman and italic faces, with sizes available for machine typesetting up to and including 18 point; the set of each point size; the length of capital and lowercase alphabets (A-to-Z and a-to-z) of each point size, measured in picas and inches. The information covering the length of capital and lowercase alphabets was compiled and is published in response to many requests from estimators, designers, typographers and layout men. Because the width of the average character in text-matter composition is not the same as the width of the average character in the alphabet, we caution against the use of alphabet measurements as the basis of a system or method of copyfitting—methods of copyfitting must be based upon the width of the average character used in composition and not on the width of the average character in the alphabet.
