It mingled with his religion, and filled his mind with solemn, visionary thoughts on the mystic passages of the scriptures, and of the shadowy portents of the prophecies. It exalted his office in his eyes, and made him conceive himself an agent sent forth upon a sublime and awful mission, subject to impulses and to vision.
More than three centuries and a half ago, in the mid springtime of 1492, we are sure that the star-quenching angel of the dawn, as he travelled with broad, slow wings from the Levant to the Pillars of Hercules, and from the summits of the Caucasus across all the snowy Alpine ridges to the dark nakedness of the western isles, saw the same outline of firm land and unstable sea—saw the same great mountain shadows on the same valleys as he has seen to-day—saw olive mounts and pine forests, and the broad plains, green with young corn or rain-freshened grass—saw the domes and spires of cities rising by the river sides or mingled with the sedge-like masts on the many curved sea-coast, in the same spots where they rise to-day. And as the faint light of his course pierced into the dwellings of men, it fell, as now on the rosy warmth of nestling children; on the haggard wakening of sorrow and sickness; on the hasty uprising of the hard-handed laborer; and on the late sleep of the night-student, who had been questioning the stars or the sages, or his own soul, for that hidden knowledge which would break through the barrier of man’s brief life, and show its dark path that seemed to bend sometimes hither, to be an arc in an immeasurable circle of light and glory. The great river-courses which have shaped the lives of men have hardly changed at all; and those other streams, the life-currents that ebb and flow in human hearts, pulsate to the same great needs, and the same great loves and terrors. As our thought follows close in the slow
Life had zest for the old Florentine when he, too, trod the marble steps and shared in those dignities. His politics had an area as wide as his trade, which stretched from Syria to Britain, but they had also the passionate intensity, and the detailed practical interest which could belong only to a narrow scene of corporate action; only to the members of a community shut in close by the hills and by walls of six miles' circuit, where men know each other as they passed in the street, set their eyes every day on memorials of their community, and were conscious of having not only the right to vote, but the chance of being voted for. He loved his honors and his gains, the business of his trading-house and of his guild, of the council-chamber; he loved his enmities, too, and he fingered the white bean which was to keep a hated name out of the borsa with more complacency than if it had been a golden florin. He loved to strengthen his family by a good alliance, and went home with a triumphant light in his eyes after concluding a satisfactory marriage for his son or daughter, under his favorite loggia in the evening cool; and he loved his game at chess under that same loggia, and his biting jest and even his coarse joke, as not beneath the dignity of a man eligible for the highest magistracy. He had gained an insight into all sorts of affairs at home and abroad; he had been of the "Ten" who had

Thoroughness

THE Printer, as he advances in his Art, demands from the Type Founder ten thousand and one things that are absolutely necessary, though limited in use and, therefore, unprofitable.

The incentive to supply this demand was found in a desire to excel in their Art displayed by the men (such as Thomas MacKellar and Michael Dalton) who built up the principal Foundries. To this ambition their successor, the American Type Founders' Company, owes the

Better Value

This Company is able to sell at fair prices owing to the enormous output of its large Foundries, while the practical value of the Type made is greater, because of the superior cut of faces, the more complete range of sizes in series, and the application of its numerous mechanical patents in type manufacturing. Quality is not sacrificed to prices; the American Type Founders' Company has only one standard—the best.

HANDSOME MAGAZINE FACE

FRENCH Old Style No. 2 is splendidly adapted for a certain class of book and magazine work, where the desire is to get a face as readable as can be made, yet different from modern Roman. It agrees thoroughly with the bent of the more artistic minds of

NUMEROUS DESIRABLE FEATURES

SMALL CAPS are made for the 6-Point, 7-Point, 8-Point, 10-Point and 12-Point sizes of this series, thus adding to its usefulness as a body letter. In these five sizes the FIGURES are also cast on en sets, as in regular Romans. We will furnish fonts of fifty pounds and over of every size in this series at first class or Roman prices. All sizes are cast on a systematic or "interchangeable" line. Labor-saving.

MARVELLOUSLY PICTURESQUE MEXICO

A LAND of white sunshine redolent with flowers, a land of gay costumes, crumbling churches and old convents a land of kindly greetings, of extreme courtesy, of open broad hospitality. It was more than enough to revel in an Italian sun, lighting up a semi-tropical land, to look up to white-capped peaks towering into the blue, to look down upon wind swept plains, encircled with rugged mountains.

THE HALLS OF MONTEZUMA

WORLD wrongly called the New! this clime was old when first the Spaniard came, in search of gold. Age after age its shadowy wings had spread, and man was born, and gathered to the dead. Cities arose, ruled, dwindled to decay; Empires were formed then darkly swept away. Race followed race, like cloud-shades o'er the field, the stranger still to strangers doomed to yield Till to invading Europe bowed their pride, and pomp, art, power, with

SUPERIOR TYPOGRAPHY
We would call the attention of printers and publishers to this new series, which is especially adapted for use on editions de luxe and other artistic books.

APPROBATION IS MERITED
That this is the handsomest of all the light-face Romans every printer will admit at first glance, which leads us to expect a large number of orders for fonts of all sizes of this useful face.

PLAIN AND CHASTE STYLE SHOWN
Many printers and many of their customers have complained that the type faces produced of late were much too grotesque. It has always been our endeavor to satisfy all tastes and therefore this new Roman is now offered for inspection by our friends.

AMERICAN WINTER OVERCOAT

Secured the Greatest Bargains 35

One of the peculiar features of this series is, that the lower-case letters B, D, H, M, N, P, Q and Y can be used to represent Q, P, Y, W, U, B, D and H, and capital M, L, and figure 6 makes 9, —an important item for the consideration of the printer, when short of "sorts." The letters line both ways. Logo-types of each size are furnished.

NEW SIGNAL SERVICE SIGNS.

48-Point Signal Service Signs—Per font, $2.00.

No. 5 may be used to print in blue over No. 1, in case it is desired to have flag No. 2 represented in its proper color.

24-Point Signal Service Signs—Per font, $1.50.

EXPLANATION OF SIGNALS.—No. 1, White Flag, always indicates clear or fair weather, no rain. No. 2, Blue Flag, indicates rain or snow. No. 3, Black Triangular Flag, always refers to temperature; when placed above or before Nos. 1 or 2 it indicates warmer weather; when placed below or after Nos. 1 or 2 it indicates colder weather. No. 4, Cold Wave Flag, indicates the approach of a sudden and decided fall of temperature.

PIN, NAIL AND SCREW HEADS.

Price, per font, 75 cents.
Checkers and Chess

Font of Checkers, with Rules, complete, $3.00.

Font of Chessmen, with Rules, complete, $4.00.
COPPER ALLOY FINE-DOT LEADERS.

These Leaders are cast with our superior Copper Alloy metal, and are therefore nearly as durable as Brass Leaders, while their cost is only about one third as much. They are cast on the following bodies, and to match any face of our make. Put up in any size fonts required.

The following specimen shows the Copper Alloy Fine-Dot Leaders used in connection with our 8-Point Caledonian Italic:

Personally appeared, this .............. day of .............. A. D. 190 ...., before me, a gentleman known as .............., and deposed, that, although he is not at this moment able to .............. correctly the word .............., it is not because he never knew how.

......................... Notary Public.

45a 18A c 6-Point Caledonian Italic. $2.25

DESIRABLE ADDITION TO A USEFUL SERIES.

We will not use the hackneyed phrase about "filling a long-felt want," in offering this 6-Point size of Caledonian Italic to our appreciative printer friends, but will give expression to the opinion that many of them, no doubt, have been wondering why so useful a face has never before been made on a smaller body than 8-Point (or Brevier). As no satisfactory reason could be given for the absence of this size, we have had it cut, and now solicit your commendation of it by giving us many orders for fonts of the same.
